Greg-

I just received a call from ADA Karen Southerland from Springfield Superior Court asking my availibilty for both 10-26 and 10-27. Since I already had a superior court case on the 27th, she said she is going to put me on call for a 2nd case that day. She indicated that there would be a motion to supress first, and if that goes in the prosecution's favor, she expects that the defendant will plead, so I'm not sure where that leaves you. Sorry to have things up in the air so much.

September 26th: Springfield District Court, Commonwealth v. [REDACTED], ADA Sam Medina
September 27th: Springfield Superior Court, Commonwealth v. [REDACTED], ADA Frank Dunn

I think that there is a decent chance that the case on the 26th may either be pled or dismissed totally since a different defendant arrested at the same time (her boyfriend/acquaintance?) was supposedly going to plead guilty to possession, or at least that was the impression I got when I appeared at her trial at an earlier date (case was continued to 10-26-09 at that point).

As for the case on the 27th, the only thing I know is that I've been on call for it ononce before (8-26-09).

Hope this helps.
